

Common study expenses for the Graduate Student

Below are listed common study expenses for the graduate student. Be aware that these can vary based on the number of subjects involved in a study and the type of study you are doing.

For the student doing a Masters degree:

Most masters degree students do studies that are literature based rather than a full research experiment. However, we are happy to have you do an experiment. Both costs are listed below. Remember that you are charged every semester that you take for prelims and your study and your oral defense, and they all are more than 3 credits per semester.

Master's with a literature based study –

Editor - $600- $1000

Thesis on Demand - $65-$100 per bound copy

Copyright - $5 - $25

Graduation fee – Listed on Holos web site.

Graduation robes – Varies by company. You may purchase through Holos ($75) or you can purchase through ebay or an organization like www.gradmart.com,

Master's with an experimental study –

CITI research ethics training $120 in 2018. (Human or Animal)

Study cost – varies from $1000 to $50,000. You need to decide what you can afford and have a discussion with your committee chair about how much you have to spend.

Space in which you will do your study. This can vary from $25 rental for a room for a single hour to several thousand dollars.

Study Insurance - $1000+ most common is about $2500
