

Amy Rice

Amy Rice is a lifelong musician and lover of sacred sounds and dances. As a long time special education teacher, she has incorporated a variety of therapeutic sound and music modalities to assist students with creativity, focusing, and relaxation. She has studied with Jonathan Goldman, and also received her certification as a Vibrational Sound Therapist using specialized Tibetan bowls and gongs for individual sound healing sessions. She has been collecting bowls and a wide range of resonant instruments for the past 25 years and has facilitated Sound Immersions in many venues throughout the Midwest.